SELECT ROSES.

The large demand for Roses has impelled us to bestow much attention upon their culture; and to the furtherance of this object, we are constantly increasing our stock under the superintendence of an efficient and careful propagator, as well as by semi-annual importations from abroad, for the satisfactory accomplishment of which our opportunities are peculiarly fortunate.

We are privileged, through the kindness of a gentleman residing in Paris, who is not only familiar with the plants belonging to this branch of the Nursery, but who has constant business relations with their best growers in Europe, to avail ourselves of the advantages of his position to procure whatever may be new and desirable. This opportunity has already put us in possession of many of the rarest and finest Roses of the several classes, and will continue to be available to us hereafter, so that we are now, and shall continue to be, peculiarly well prepared to gratify tastes the most varied and fastidious.

PERPETUAL, OR EVER BLOOMING ROSES.

We particularly invite the attention of all amateurs and others desiring roses, to our list of Perpetuals and Bourbons, feeling confident that they embrace everything of real merit, both European and American. We are amongst the first to import anything that will be a decided acquisition.

This is the most desirable class of all the Roses, being mostly hardy, and having the quality of blooming during the full season. They are of vigorous growth, fine foliage, and rich in their colors; ranging from pure white to deep brilliant scarlet, and even to very dark purple, or almost black, as Ebene. We present here a great many choice and rare varieties of high reputation in England and France, and which we have imported from those countries.

PRICE,—50 Cents, except where noted.

" By the doz., chiefly our selection, $3.50

The Bourbons, as a class, are more tender than the Perpetuals; but are vigorous growers, continual bloomers, and fine in foliage. They bloom in large clusters and are very lasting. Their best season is in the autumn, when fine roses are most desirable. We ask attention to the collection below, as embracing not only the very rare and choice new varieties imported during recent years, but also all the best varieties heretofore for sale in our country.

We are also constantly importing from abroad, and shall spare no pains to keep well supplied with the latest and choicest varieties.

NOISETTES.

The Noisettes are a splendid class of Roses, and are justly admired by all. They possess the same property of blooming through the summer and autumn as the Bourbons, Teas and Chinas; and the flowers of almost every variety are of cupped form. Most of them are hardy, and others nearly so, requiring but slight protection. Some of them have long flexible shoots, well adapted to training to columns, green houses, or the sides of buildings. We ask attention to the following list of splendid varieties.

PRICE—50 Cents, except where noted.

Downing*], very pure and delicate in color, and in form globular and perfect; [Hon. Marshall P. Wilder]; as highly scented as the admired Devoniensis, as full petaled and well formed as the well known Lamarque; [Geo. C. Thornburn]; rather darker than Solfatare, and more fragrant; [P. Barry]; more double and globular, and remarkably elegant in shape—decidedly finer in shape than Solfatare; [Thomas Rivers, Esq., the celebrated Rose Cultivator, in England]; a strong grower, free bloomer, and one of the most desirable roses which is now known. [Ichabod Bartlett, Esq., Worcester, Mass.]

CHINA, OR BENGAL ROSES.

This class is desirable and fine for the open ground, filling up the entire season with a profusion of bloom. In their habit, they are comparatively dwarfish. Their flowers are mostly cupped; a few are globular. They commence flowering in April, and continue a constant succession until arrested by frost. If potted and housed, they will continue to bloom throughout the winter months. They are all tender, and require protection. When not taken up, we find the best preservative to be a covering of litter, or one or two inches of soil.

TEA ROSES.

These roses are particularly esteemed on account of their exquisite odor, denominated tea-scented. Their properties are the same as the preceding, and they require the same treatment. Some of them are less vigorous than the Bengals, while others are of greater vigor. They are not so vivid in color, but have more delicate tints, and combine among their varieties the shades of orange, cream and yellow.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

The fall can boast of no flower more beautiful than the Chrysanthemums. They are a great ornament to parlor windows, and make the green house look gay until Christmas. Many of the large flowering varieties are very handsome and showy; but the introduction of the Pomponé or Daisy varieties, which are of a dwarf compact habit and more adapted to pot culture, has nearly monopolized popular attention and favor. They flower in all shades of color, being very neat in their appearance, many resembling a most perfect Daisy. The following list comprises the best French and other varieties. The largest flowering varieties are marked by a star. *

BULBOUS FLOWER ROOTS.

IMPORTED ANNUALLY FROM HOLLAND.

The following choice collection of Bulbs has been selected with especial reference to their fine blooming habits, brilliant colors, and exquisite fragrance. Their quality cannot be surpassed. They are remarkably superior to those refuse roots sent out annually for public sale in our large cities. All who wish to obtain one of the best assortments will find it very much to their satisfaction to avail themselves of the opportunity which, by importation or culture, we annually offer them.

These bulbs answer for forcing in the winter, for the parlor, as well as for planting out in the garden. They are always warranted to be sound, and true to name and color, and will be sold as low as they can be obtained elsewhere, and much lower than New York prices generally.

DIRECTIONS.—The preferable season for planting our bulbs is from October until the freezing up of the ground. The depth that they should be buried varies with varieties. Hyacinths, Amarillis, large Lilies, Crown Imperials, and Narcissus, four inches; Tulips, double Narcissus, and Jonquils, three inches; Crocus, Gladiolus, and Snow-drops, four inches; always measuring from the top of the Bulb. Every other year, Hyacinths, Tulips, &c., should be taken up and separated. The time is about one month after the bloom is completely gone, when the plants assume a yellowish appearance. Cut off the stem within one inch of the bulb, but leave the fibres on, then spread them in an airy room to dry for several weeks; after which they should be laid away in dry sand, or wrapped closely in paper, until the planting season returns.

Amaryllis, Large Strong Bulbs. This succeeds well when planted in May. It is tender, and should be taken up, dried, and laid away where it may be exempt from frost.

ALTISSIMA, Most splendid red, very beautiful. $2.

AULICA, OR LILY OF THE PAL-ACE, Crimson, shaded with very lively green, very splendid and showy. $2.50

BELLADONNA MAJOR, Large, pale violet and white, very showy, 75c.

FORMOSISSIMA, Rich velvety crimson. 25c.

JOHNSONIA, OR JOHNSON'S SUPERB, Crimson, striped with white, quite showy, with very large heads of bloom. $1.

Crocus.

They should be planted in September or October, about two inches deep. It is a hardy plant, gorgeously enameling the garden or lawn in early spring with its abundant flowers of varied hue.

Narcissus, (Daffodil.) The Narcissus is a very fine spring flowering Bulb, and indispensable to a fine collection. The bulbs may be planted in October or November, about three inches deep. As they are mostly hardy they need not be taken up oftener than to part the roots; once perhaps in two or three years.

PRICE—Best named sorts, 20 cents each, $2 per dozen.

Snowdrops, (Galanthus Nivalis.) This is the earliest of all the garden tribe, often lifting its head above the new fallen snow as if in defiance of its rival purity and whiteness. Every third year the roots should be taken up, in June or July, and kept in a dry place till August, when they may be re-planted.

Best double sorts, 75c. per doz.

Tiger Flower, (Ferraria.) Flowers very beautiful, continuing to bloom a long time. Plant in May, 2 inches deep; take up in October, dry the bulbs and keep from frost.

RHODODENDRONS.

PRICE—From 75 Cents to $2.00.

DAHLIAS.

In the following list of Dahlias we have endeavored to reject every variety not desirable; they have all been flowered upon our own grounds and subject to the scrutiny of a very careful and reliable propagator. Our collection is extensive, and the varieties can be relied upon as being true to name.

Dahlias require a rich, mellow, well under-drained soil; they should be liberally treated with well rotted stable manure. To keep the ground sufficiently moist, let it be thoroughly mulched; this is better than the continued application of water. In a very dry time, water applied once a week may be well. Superfluous branches should be thinned out, and the stems secured to strong stakes. In the winter, the roots should be kept dry, and free from frost. They may be planted as late as the middle of June; and the roots secured for the winter in October or November.

PRICE—Whole, well grown roots, 25 Cents each; $2,50 per dozen.

SELECT VERBENAS.

The Verbena is decidedly one of the richest acquisitions to the flower garden; it blooms in great profusion during the Summer and Autumn, continuing until the ground becomes hard frozen. It looks bright and vigorous always, not being affected by the sudden changes of temperature or moisture. As it is a trailing plant, covering the ground closely, it is finely adapted for grouping, or for mounds. The following comprise all of the best and most rare varieties.

FUCHSIAS.

We invite particular attention to this beautiful tribe of plants. They will bloom from May to November, either in the pot or out of doors. Water them freely when growing, and syringe twice a day during the summer. By putting in cuttings in August, they can be made to flower all winter. Carolina, Hero, Magnificent, and Beauty of Salisbury, can be grown to resemble the Weeping Willow.

The following list comprises the best new and old sorts.
